

Swedish Police Break Up Another Riot

Stockholm, March 30. — (UP) — Swedish police with sabers broke up a rioting mob of 5,000 persons in Stockholm last night. The rioting started last Friday afternoon and continued through the weekend. Police refused to report on the rioting. Weekend broadcasts from Moscow, however, charged Sweden with a "war psychosis" and said it was preparing to offer bomber bases to the United States in case of war.

Last night's mob gathered in the streets at 7 p. m. The police sent 14 radio cars and 200 mounted officers to the rioting. Police formed their lines and attacked with sabers just as the rioters were emptying.

Six of the demonstrators were sent to the hospital with minor injuries. Although usual police practice is to strike with the flat of the baton, rioters were using their fists.

Bystanders who witnessed the rioting said they were mystified as to the cause.

When the police attacked with sabers, there were many people who didn't know anything about the riots, one man said.

The reason why the crowds began forming was not apparent in first reports on the incidents. The two previous riots were described as being against police who were trying to break up unexplained crowds.

The first was Friday night, when 1,000 persons gathered in the southern part of Stockholm and stoned passing police cars. Eight of the demonstrators were arrested.

A similar incident occurred Sunday. Another crowd of 1,500 persons gathered and was broken up by police with eight more arrested. The fighting was more severe Sunday with police using sabers and batons to clear the streets.

There was some speculation that the first two gatherings were composed of rowdies at loose ends because all theaters and dance halls were closed for the Easter holidays. However, both were open last night.

Air pressure at sea level is about 2,100 pounds per square foot.

Inter-American Conference Regarded by Observers as Most Important

B. DeWITT MacKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Inter-American Conference which is opening today in Bogota, Colombia, is regarded by many observers as the most important meeting of its kind since the initial session at Washington in 1890 when the Pan-American Union was organized.

Its importance lies in two reasons: (1) The world crisis caused by the fight between Bolshevism and democracy calls for an overhauling of hemispheric solidarity; (2) Latin America is on the move and has the urge for economic and political development.

So the 21 republics meeting in the fine old Colombian capital—a setting enriched by 400 years of history—are hopeful of making the inter-American system the strongest association of peace-loving nations. That is their hope—but it is recognized that the going may not be easy, for there are numerous controversial problems to be solved.

This conference is expected to last some six weeks, and if we needed any other indication of its importance, we should have it in the fact that not only Secretary of State Marshall but Secretary of Commerce Harriman will be in attendance, and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder will be on call.

With the crises in Europe and Asia at white heat, you don't send top officials of that caliber to South America unless it is vastly important.

There are many subjects on the agenda, but in the main they can be summed up under three objectives:

1. To increase economic cooperation among the 21 nations.

2. To reorganize the 58 year old Pan-American Union as a regional branch of the United Nations.

3. To set up machinery for settling disputes among American nations.

In short, the conference is aiming at the creation of what has been described as the "Little United Nations" of the western hemisphere. And that's a mighty interesting development when you consider the budding union of western European nations, since the two groups presumably will complement each other indirectly.

So the Bogota conference takes in a wide range of economic, political and military questions. From the standpoint of the Latin American countries the economic aspect is the most important. They have come to the time when they want to develop their industries, whereas their economy thus far has been based on their role as suppliers of raw materials for the big industrial nations.

This economic urge naturally involves outside capital, and that presumably will come largely from the United States. These economic desires have met with general approval from Washington and private capital in the United States. However, America is asking that the Latin countries remove existing restrictions on freedom of action by foreign enterprises. These restrictions are hampering foreign investments which the U.S.A. would like to see. A heavy argument may develop over this at Bogota.

Another issue which is full of dynamite is the demand in important Latin American quarters for abolition of colonialism. Involved in this are the claims by Argentina and Chile to Antarctic territories which Britain also calls her own. Then there is the red hot dispute between Guatemala and England over British Honduras. The argument involves all the colonial possessions of Britain, France and the Netherlands, including the West Indies, and such areas as the three Guianas which are largely undeveloped but undoubtedly possess vast riches.

All these things are likely to harass the conference, but if it achieves greater hemispheric solidarity and economic progress, it will be a vast success.

existing in the western occupation zone of Germany, consisting of officers of the former German Army who are being used by the American intelligence service for espionage in the Soviet zone. Radio Moscow said.

"According to Pinkert's testimony, the center of the organization set itself the task of establishing contact with German agents, left in a number of countries during wartime and for this purpose intends to utilize such countries as Austria and Sweden, through which it is possible to conduct espionage work."

Moscow said the center of the alleged spy organization was established first in Frankfurt but was transferred to Munich in the summer of 1947.

Its members, Moscow said, were "former officers of the German general staff." The head of the spy ring, the broadcast charged, was Col. Gen. Franz Halder, former chief of staff of the German Army.

Halder was imprisoned by the Nazis for suspected participation in the 1944 bomb attempt against Hitler. He was released by British troops at the end of the war and held with members of the German general staff in a castle near Wiesbaden.

Departments organized under Halder, the broadcast said, were "charged with the task of organizing military, political and economic espionage."

"The organization attempted to conduct intelligence work in the Soviet zone through some of these departments," Moscow said.

"Pinkert testified the illegal fascist organization was subsidized by the American intelligence service and by big German industrialists, from whom it received large sums each month."

Pinkert was enlisted for espionage work in the summer of 1946 by Hans Erasmus, former chief of staff of the Brandenburg Division.

"He made several secret trips to the Soviet zone, where he enlisted in the organization a number of former officers of the German Army whom he knew," Radio Moscow charged.

"He supplied American intelligence with espionage information of military, economic and political nature, in particular on Soviet Army units, airdromes and military commandant's offices as well as the situation of industrial enterprises in Saxony and on their output."

Nomination Hopefuls Head for Nebraska

Omaha, March 30. — (AP) — Nebraska will be crowded next week with Republicans who want to be president.

It will be their last full week for campaigning before the Cornhusker state's April 13 free-for-all primary.

Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and his wife, Martha, will arrive Sunday to begin separate tours. Some time during the week Harold E. Stassen and Gov. Warren E. Hearnes will be in the state.

Taft and Stassen already have been here to woo voters. But for Dewey it will be the first appearance in the campaign.

Politicians label the Nebraska primary a free-for-all because almost every major candidate—even some ostensibly unwilling ones—is on the ballot.

About the only big names missing from the presidential preference ballot will be those of Henry Wallace and General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

On the Republican ballot will be Dewey, Stassen, Taft, Governor Earl Warren, California House Speaker Martin, General Douglas MacArthur and Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

President Truman is alone on the Democratic presidential preference ballot.

Nebraska's delegates to the national convention aren't bound by the primary vote. Nor are the candidates for delegate pledged to any candidates. But the primary will show the Midwest strength of the candidates.

In 1944 Stassen won the preference vote. But Dewey came in second on write-in votes alone.

The free-for-all ballot is the work of a non-partisan committee which decided the voters should have a chance to vote on every ranking presidential candidate. On its own, the committee circulated petitions to put the names on the ballot.

General Eisenhower was dropped when, in the committee's opinion, he eliminated himself from the race. As for Wallace, Nebraska law wouldn't permit putting a third-party candidate on the ballot in time for the April 13 vote.

Vandenberg and Warren said they didn't want their names on the ballot. After an exchange of telegrams with Vandenberg, the committee decided the senator had not ruled himself out of the race.

Both names went on the ballot.

changes were small in the grain futures pits at the board of trade today. Grains opened generally lower, prices drifted downward until there were indications that the government had purchased some wheat.

The Commodity Credit Corporation was credited with purchase of 552,000 bushels at Kansas City during the morning. This lifted wheat prices above yesterday's closing level, but selling pressure was encountered on the advance.

Trading in corn was light, and only limited demand for oats was uncovered. Corn bookings were placed at 23,000 bushels against sales of 5,000 bushels.

At the close wheat was 1-4 higher to 1-3/4 lower, May 2-43 1-2-3/4, corn was 1-4 cent to 2 cents lower, May 2-18 1-4-18, oats were 1-4 higher to 1-4 lower, May 1-09 5-09 5-10.

Dickey knew Stratton when the latter was ace of the Chicago White Sox pitching staff. Stratton lost a leg in a hunting accident and later coached for the Sox.

Arkansas Entered in Texas Relays

Austin, Tex., March 30 —(AP)—More than 700 entries have been received and probably 300 more will be posted by deadline time tomorrow in the twenty-first annual Texas relays.

Universities and colleges from eight states in the Southwest, South and Mid-West will have teams here and a half-dozen others in danger.

Defending individual champions have little or no chance of repeating, these including Rollin Prather of Kansas State who won both the shot and discus events last year.

Hugo Fortune Gordon, Minnesota's mightiest man, not only is expected to beat Prather in both events but to set new records. He whirled the discus in the neighborhood of 180 feet and puts the shot 44—both well over the Texas relays marks.

The only 1947 champions not scheduled to return are Bill Matlineson, 100-yard-dash winner, and Herb Grote, javelin star from Nebraska. Matlineson transferred from Baylor to Oklahoma A. and M. and is not eligible this year.

Entries in the university and college divisions to date include: Arkansas, Bradley of Illinois, Drake, Kansas, Kansas State, Oklahoma and Oklahoma A. and M.

Washington, March 30 —(AP)—Henry A. Wallace said today the "false crisis" is deliberately leading the American people toward war.

"I charge," said Wallace, "an artificial crisis was deliberately manufactured to stampede Congress and the people into accepting universal military training and conscription."

The third party presidential candidate denounced administration prepared for the Senate Armed Services Committee. The committee is hearing testimony for and against UMT and a temporary revival of the wartime draft to back the administration's new half-Russkin policy.

Wallace's testimony was distributed to reporters several hours before Mr. Truman struck out anew last night at his ousted cabinet of "there are certain things which he go to Russia."

The president spoke extemporaneously at a dinner meeting of Greek-Americans. He declared that his country "never wants war."

"But," Mr. Truman asserted, "there are certain things which he go to Russia."

Among accusations the former vice president leveled in his prepared statement at the chief executive and his policy makers were these:

1. The current international crisis was "concocted" not only to promote big business, but also to stave off an economic crisis at home.

2. Forced labor for workers will result from a remobilization program.

3. The administration "is arming us for a war without limits or in our own backyards."

4. The administration's military policy intends to impose "military control of every kind."

5. America is threatening the security of the world.

Wallace said "our country is in danger." But he insisted the danger comes from our own policies "which will bring war—unnecessarily war—on our country."

"The crisis lies in the war fever itself—not in real threats of invasion, but in the synthetic threats of invasion" pumped out to support the arms program, x x x

"The administration is again using the 'crisis' technique. The objective is to frighten the mind to paralyze the will and mind of the American people so that they will accept the plans to militarize America."

"But the security of the United States has been threatened—except from Washington."

Truman-Stalin Confab Asked
Washington, March 30 —(AP)—A new call for personal talks between President Truman and Marshal Stalin to discuss the world peace came today from Charles F. Boss, Jr., a leader of the Methodist church.

Boss, executive secretary of the Methodist commission on world peace, told the Senate Armed Services Committee:

"We believe the president should be willing to meet in some neutral country, (in cities such as Stockholm, Geneva, with Stalin for the purpose of reaching some present Soviet-American problems in peace."

250 Miles on a Gallon, He Says

James Monroe, of Bellflower, Calif., checks the gadget he invented to make his car run 250 miles on a gallon of gas and a gallon of water. Soon he says he'll be able to do without the gasoline and just use water. Principle of Monroe's invention is the conversion of water into its hydrogen and oxygen components. These mixed with gasoline vapor, become a highly explosive product which is fed into the carburetor. Monroe hopes to perfect the device before it blows him and his car sky-high.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh & Fullerton, Jr.

New York, March 30 —(AP)—Detroit Tigers' Dizzy Trout and Art Houtteman were the first major league pitchers to go nine innings during the current spring training season.

The comparatively unimportant fact emphasizes a phenomenon that likely will continue through the entire American League campaign.

All winter, Detroit hasn't a first-division ball club, in the commonly accepted sense, but it will be a pennant contender because of its superior pitching staff.

As Billy Evans explains: "We'll only need a couple of runs to win a game with the kind of pitching we'll get."

Task Job
Bob Seymour became swimming coach at the University of Denver last December because he was a football backfield coach with little to do.

He claims he took a few lessons at the "Y," so he wouldn't drown before issuing the call for candidates.

Found himself in charge of a team that won six of seven dual meets. In the semi-finals, both victories followed the pattern set by the same teams in the recent finals of the Rocky Mountain A.A.U. meet.

Following custom, the athletes have pitched Bob into the tank eight times, to which his only comment is: "It's hard on store-bought clothes, but I'm proud to cooperate."

Keep It Dark
When a visiting newspaperman, reading the U. of Florida's tough 1948 football schedule, asked Coach Ray Holt: "Have you looked at this schedule lately?" Ray covered his eyes and moaned: "No, and please don't show it to me."

Dots All, Brothers
The Western Michigan College tennis team, starting its spring tour today, will lose its No. 1 player after the opening match.

Arnold Brown will pull out to play in the National Table Tennis Tournament at Columbus, Ohio.

He should have a holdout ball player on your hand, too. In 1933 Charles (Old Hiss) Robinson won 49 games for Providence, then in the National League, and his pay was upped from $2,000 to $3,000.

Here and There in Arkansas

Newport, March 30 —(AP)—Napoleon Winkles' wife and a neighbor have been charged with murder in connection with his death.

The charges were filed by Prosecutors Milford Hardin against Mrs. Savannah Winkles, 46, and George Hunt, 65.

Winkles, 68, was fatally shot at his home near here Saturday night.

First had made statement implicating Mrs. Winkles, but that after questioning in Little Rock last night, he took sole blame for the shooting, absolving Mrs. Winkles.

Little Rock, March 30 —(AP)—William B. Holman, who has announced as candidate for secretary of state, has resigned as manager of Vets Haven near Hot Springs.

He has recommended appointing Fred Menasco, Little Rock, as his successor.

Fayetteville, March 30 —(AP)—The University of Arkansas' All-Southwest Conference Center, George Kolk will go to work for the Caterpillar Tractor Co. of Peoria, Ill., following his graduation in June. Kolk said he would work in the line study department of the company which sponsors an amateur basketball team.

Fort Smith, March 30 —(AP)—A strike, the plant of the Trailmobile Company here, has been approved by members of the CIO United Automobile Workers Union. Local President Guy Wilkerson has announced.

He said the strike, involving 35 employees, would become effective 30 days from Friday if the contract dispute with the company, which manufactures automobile trailers, is not settled by then.

Conway, March 30 —(AP)—The Arkansas Historical Association will hold its annual convention here April 30-May 1.

Speakers will include Chief Justice rather than insisting upon anonymity as an "Eisenhower spokesman" declared in a statement that "under no conceivable circumstances" will the five star general yield to a Democratic draft.

Indians Have Best Record in Grapefruit Loop

New York, March 30 —(AP)—The Cleveland Indians sport the best record among American League clubs in the "Grapefruit" League play today while the Brooklyn Dodgers continue to set the pace in the National League.

Cleveland won six out of seven starts during the week to take over first place from the New York Yankees who won only two out of six games and dropped to third.

The Indians have won 12 out of 17 starts for a .706 percentage. The Philadelphia Athletics with a 9-4 record are second with .692 and the Yankees third with .662.

Brooklyn has won all of its 14 starts for a perfect 1.000 mark. However, the Brooks have not yet played a major league opponent.

The New York Giants are in second place in the National League with a .593 average. The Philadelphia Phillies are the only club in the national playing below a .500 clip.

Braves Are Weak in the Outfield

Bradenton, Fla., March 30 —(AP)—If the Boston Braves win the pennant this year, they will do it without an outfield which is particularly strong defensively.

That would be a rare situation, indeed, and Manager Billy Southworth probably is quite aware of it.

His club has good power, a fine infield if Alvin Dark forsakes the short, good catching, and two of the best pitchers in the business in Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain.

The outfielders are not refugees from wheel chairs, but they aren't Joe Di Maggio's of Terry Moores, either.

In left field Southworth has the unpredictable Jeff Heath to play when right handers are pitching, and Danny Litwhiler in the play and give or take a couple of days.

Litwhiler is a year younger. Neither covers an astonishing amount of ground out there.

Jim Russell is a fair center-fielder, and Southworth probably will keep Clint Comanster, a youngster up from Buffalo who has been hitting fast ball pitching well this spring.

Tommy Holmes, not renowned as a speed merchant, will be in right field, and recently all by himself.

Holmes is swinging for the fences this year after a couple of years of hitting for percentage, and the results are awaited with interest.

The hit 23 home runs in 1943 when the pitcher was young, then dropped off to six and nine, respectively, the last two years.

Aside from the prospects of Dark, which don't necessarily mean dark prospects, the infield is in light.

Both Frank McCormick and Earl Webb are capable first basemen. With Second Baseman Eddie Stanky you can throw statistics out the window and still find him one of the best team men in the league.

Bob Elliot, voted the National League's most valuable player last year.

Southworth can put Phil Masi behind the plate and forget him. All in all, Southworth's problems seem to be pitching out of the hand Spahn and Sain, the ability of Dark to come through, and a certain lack of gallop in the outfield.

Believes Military Training Should Not Interfere With Education of Our Youths

DEWITT MACKENZIE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

This vexing question of whether Uncle Sam should, or should not, inaugurate universal military training is bringing me a good many inquiries from people who are in doubt but are trying to figure the thing out honestly and unselfishly.

Well, it's a compliment to be consulted but frankly I am at this writing of an open mind on the general issue of peace-time military training. The chief positive thought I have in the matter is that, if Congress should decide such training to be essential for defense, it is to be hoped it can be arranged so not to interfere with education of our youths.

Having said this I must admit that my outlook may be somewhat

Eisler Describes U. S. to Czech Communist Pals

Prague, March 29 —(AP)—Hanns Eisler, composer who left Hollywood after a tangle with the House Committee on Un-American Activities, surveyed the sunny, peaceful streets of Prague today and said to Czech friends: "How different!"

Then he gave to listeners, many of them the new Communists who have taken control of the Czechoslovak government, his impression of present day Hollywood: "It is a city in a terrible state of hysteria."

"Old friends regard each other with suspicion. You don't know whether you can trust your neighbors. People whisper. There are prying eyes. If you have had a quarrel with the authorities, no matter how slight, you will shun you. There is conspiracy in the air and nervous thousands are quite sure the war will start next week or next month."

Eisler said he is not a member of the Communist party and does not intend to become one. He attributed his difficulties in America to his brother, Gerhard, who is a German Communist.

"I love him, I used to help him," Eisler said.

U. S. authorities halted deportation proceedings after Eisler agreed to leave voluntarily. He plans to go to Austria to live.

logged by the fact that I have a seventeen year old son in his first year of college. There are a lot of parents in the same boat. Naturally we should like to see the thing worked out so not to raise obstacles for youngsters. Who wouldn't?

However, if compulsory training is necessary, I can't see why it shouldn't be possible to arrive at some happy medium which would meet all interests. Logically, since we wouldn't be preparing for an immediate emergency (that would have to be handled by a draft) but for distant contingencies, Switzerland, for instance, claims to have found a perfect solution, as I discovered when in that country a couple of years ago. Their system, in my opinion, serves me right, runs something like this:

"Physical training of boys, to fit them for military instruction, begins in high school. But physical perfection is only one aim of this preparatory work, for the youths are trained in civic duty and are equipped with a vast pride in their fitness to undertake the military training."

Of course not all boys go to college, but the military program is adapted to all circumstances. The training is divided into four periods of three months each and is carried out in the summer. This means that the university work isn't interrupted, and the military and academic courses are completed at about the same time.

If the boy goes to work as soon as he finishes high school, his employer under the law has to release him for the four three-month periods. The employer also continues the salary during these periods and grants the regular yearly vacation as well. Also—and this is important—the employer must maintain the employee's seniority despite these absences.

The result of this program is that every able bodied man in Switzerland has had military training. And patriotism runs high. The Swiss think it is a grand system. Whether it would be equally successful in other countries is of course a matter of speculation. I cite it merely as an interesting example of one way of handling compulsory military training, where such training is a vital. It is necessary for Switzerland because of her small size and vulnerable position. The need might not be so pressing in some other countries.

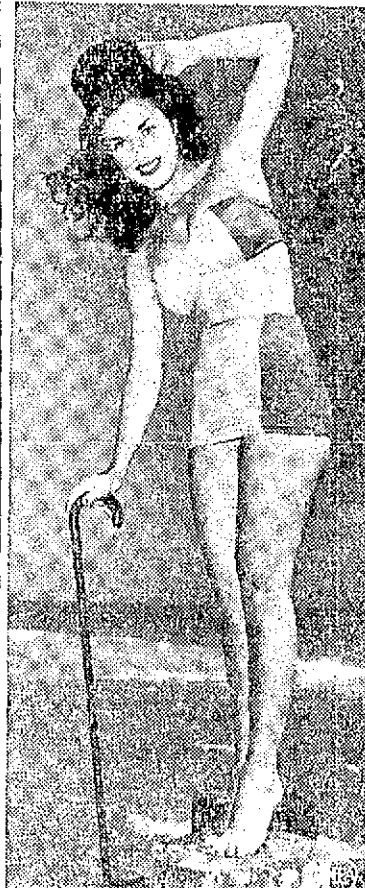

In any event, the moral of our story is that it must be the aim of any program of military training to keep it from being disruptive of the normal way of life so far as possible.

License Plates Act as Reflector

Connecticut, which pioneered aluminum auto license plates with yearly inserts, has a new wrinkle this year. The Nutmeg State's new tags are coated with a reflective material made of glass beads. Above, in daylight, the tag and Elaine Wall's raincoat look normal. But, when car headlights strike them, below, they reflect the light. The raincoat is trimmed with the beads, too.

Romanian Election Returns Show Communist Winners

Bucharest, March 29 —(AP)—Latest official returns today in Romania's national elections gave the Communist government bloc 90 per cent of the vote.

Returns from 40 of Romania's 59 election districts showed that 5,220,708 of the 5,724,522 registered voters cast ballots, 537,638 of them for the government bloc.

Yesterday's balloting, for 414 members of a new national assembly is expected to clinch the far left's control over Romania. Deputies elected will convene a constitution creating a Socialist-Communist state.

feet deep. Sometimes they were connected by communications trenches 2 1/2 feet deep. Holes 10 feet in diameter were dug and given turret tops with openings for machine guns. No weapons were observed but at least one emplacement contains a bipod mount as large as that for an American 81 millimeter mortar.

U. S. intelligence reports indicate the work is concentrated in five valleys containing the main travel routes between North and South Korea.

The trenches command a road in each valley and railroad lines in three. More than 32 trenches 30 to 50 feet long were counted along the invisible geographical line Saturday, and four new ones are observed daily.

The work was first noted on the Onjin peninsula on the western extremity. It spread eastward, valley by valley. The Onjin peninsula is entrenched almost solidly its entire width. The trenches there are so close to the parallel that they can be seen from the air.

There is no comparable activity in the American zone. The only defense work in South Korea is the sandbagging of Korean police stations in a few villages, several thousand yards south of 38. This was done after the threats of attack came from North Koreans, but were never carried out in large scale.

The northern work was done mainly by Koreans supervised by Soviet enlisted men. Frequently the Soviets get in and dig, too. Sometimes the Koreans march to work two or three abreast from their little villages, singing and carrying flags.

Some work done by night was camouflaged with branches by day. Recently diggers began toiling openly, in plain view of American outposts.

From this outpost, north of Yangmum in and less than 100 yards from the parallel, Americans today watched through field glasses. They saw between 30 and 40 Koreans start a trench about 50 yards long. It was on the face of a hill about 2,000 yards away overlooking a large concrete bridge.

They stood shoulder to shoulder at the start of the job. As the trench deepened, fewer could work and they apparently spelled each other off. One or two Soviet soldiers bossed the job.

American outpost personnel who keep tab on the doings constantly through watch glasses said the Koreans slow down noticeably when the Soviets leave the scene momentarily.

A larger hill west of one with new digging contains three trenches, one above the other overlooking the road through field glasses. The road is low and squarely facing the American outpost. These apparently are completed.

Sheriff Ernie Gentry said the defendant was Melvin H. Phillips, 25, Pueblo, Colo.

The cafe, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Walter West, was robbed about 9 p. m. by a young man who had eaten a sandwich. West said the man produced a gun and ordered him to give him the contents of the cash register. About $65 was taken.

Phillips was arrested seven miles west of here by state police about an hour after the robbery.

Cotton Maid Thrilled by Tour

New York, March 29 — (UP) — Mailla Nail, 19-year-old "maid of cotton" of Fort Worth, Tex., said today that her 10-day goodwill tour of England and France on behalf of the American cotton industry was "wonderful and a great success."

Miss Nail returned aboard an air France plane yesterday from a visit to leading British and French textile centers to bring the greetings of American cotton interests and exchange ideas in cotton styling. She was accompanied by Mary Alice Wilms, of the National Cotton Council in Memphis, Tenn.

"We were particularly impressed by the way both countries are building back and by their gratitude for American help in their reconstruction," Miss Nail said at her Hotel Vanderbilt suite.

She cited visits to cotton textile mills in Manchester and in Nelson, Lancashire, England.

"They were having a 'beat-the-crisis' production campaign," she said. "The spirit of the thing was wonderful."

Miss Nail said French textile interests in Rouen and Le Havre emphasized the invaluable help afforded them in overcoming their production difficulties by the shipments of American cotton received in the "internum aid" program.

"They all wanted us to bring back their message of appreciation," she said.

Miss Nail said she will hold a press conference tomorrow to tell more details of the trip. After a fashion show at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel on Wednesday and a radio appearance in Hartford, Conn., on Thursday, she will return to New York and remain until Sunday, when she will leave for Philadelphia as the beginning of a nationwide tour.

Justice Reed spoke for the majority. He based his opinion largely on the ground the New York statute was too vague. Reed said:

"It does not seem to us that an honest distributor of publications could know when he might be held to have ignored such a prohibition (as set up by the New York law)."

"Collections of tales of war horrors, otherwise unexceptionable, might well be found to be massed (in one publication) so as to become 'vehicles for inciting violent and depraved crimes.'"

"Where a statute is so vague as to make criminal an innocent act, a conviction under it cannot be sustained."

The decision was given on an appeal by Murray Winters, New York City book dealer who was fined $100 on a charge of possessing, with intent to sell, some 2,000 copies of a magazine called "Headquarters Detective," true cases from the police blotter.

Winters contended the law, enacted by the New York legislature in 1934, violated the federal constitution's guarantee of freedom of the press.

Russians Get Ready for War in Korea

(Editor's Note: Roy Roberts, Associated Press correspondent in Seoul, Korea, who on Friday was the first to report Soviet-sponsored north Koreans repeatedly broadcast invitations to south Koreans to take part in setting up a Russian-controlled Korean government, today visited the boundary between the U. S. and Soviet occupation zones. This is what he found.)

By ROY ROBERTS

Outpost 18 on 33th Parallel, Korea, March 29 —(AP)—Soviet soldiers and North Korean villagers are digging trenches, foxholes and gun emplacements along the 33th Parallel dividing the Soviet and American occupation zones of Korea.

Americans don't know why. They assume the Soviets ordered the to justify Russian statements to World War I type of defensive line North Koreans — reported by travelers from the north — that Americans and South Koreans plan to attack North Korea.

The digging was first observed by American patrols early this month. They presumed the first few undertakings were irrigation ditches. The activity stepped up sharply about March 9; the nature of the work became clear. One and two-man foxholes appeared.

The ditches became trenches six
